Peer Engagement Policy

THJRC Peers have a "No Tokenism" Policy and we expect "Respect and Equity - No Hierarchy."

We expect THJRC Peers to be included in all aspects of the project and to be included fairly in ways that acknowledge the value of their unique expertise, including fair pay for their work. Monetary time-sensitive payment is preferred and can be paid in the form of cash (preferred), honorarium or contract at a minimum of $25/hr.

Peers reserve the right to ensure that their values align with the project before signing on.

When the project is finished, THJRC Peers expect the researchers to share their work and also give proper credit for the work, such as authorship and acknowledgment for their contribution.

Why is engaging Peers important for this project, and what processes will be used to ensure that this project is trauma-informed, participatory and equitable?
